RICH WIDOW SUEDE BY DESERTED WIFE. Mrs. Helen Linck Charges Mrs. Dora Vorhauer With Alienating Husband's Affections. DAMAGES AT $15,000. Petition Alleges That Since the Disruption of His Home Linck Has Lived at the Home of Defendant. Mrs. Helen Linck of St. Louis filed suit in the Clayton Circuit Court yesterday against Mrs. Dora Vorhauer, a wealthy widow living in Glendale, St. Louis County, for $15,000 for alienating, Edward Linck, her husband, and for $10,000 actual and $5,000 punitive damages. She declares in her petition that Linck was a kind and dutiful husband until he met Mrs. Vorhauer, when his wife's affections began to steadily decrease. She said that the defendant was harboring him at her home. The petition was filed by Attorney Henry W. Owerschep, who declined to give the address of his client, further than to say that she was a resident of St. Louis. Linck is at the head of a wall-paper company in St. Louis that bears his name. It was incorporated about the time that he is alleged to have left his wife and gone to board with Mrs. Vorhauer. Since then he has made several attempts to get a divorce from his wife, but has never convinced the court that he had a sufficient cause of action to sustain a decree. The Lincks have two children, who are living with their mother. Mrs. Vorhauer also has two children. She was divorced from her husband several years ago. Federal Petit Jurors Summoned. United States Marshal Morsey has summoned the following to appear in the United States Circuit Court on next Tuesday to testify in the case of Linck vs. Vorhauer: Joseph Koeler, Jackson; H. L. Bell, Bellevue; Joseph J. Prudon, Hermann; Edward McCulloch, Farmington; William McCoy, Wentzville; C. A. Moseley, Bloomfield; E. R. Hayward, Alamo; J. E. Fox, Bertrand; Henry L. Hodder, Excelsior; W. T. Martin, Salem; W. H. Libhart, Bourbon; Wellsville; Fred G. Howe, Webster; H. M. Jones, Iron; J. C. Trail, Apex; and L. L. King, J. P. Ballard, C. H. Jennings, Nicholas R. Wall, R. J. Gilliland, John B. Cook, Augustus Busch, W. L. Boecker, W. Grayson, Joseph A. Wagner, C. E. Baker, William McClair, C. L. Merrill, George P. Drant, Joseph F. Lucke, Edgar D. GWYNN BURIED FROM HOME OF OLD FRIEND. Attorney R. Lee Mudd Takes Body of Boyhood Companion From Hospital for Funeral. VICTIM OF CAR ACCIDENT. Were Raised Together in Maryland Twenty-Five Years Ago and Met by Chance in This City. Not wishing to have his friend of boyhood days, who had no relatives in this part of the country, buried from a hospital, Attorney R. Lee Mudd had the body of Ignatius W. Gwynn brought to his home at No. 636 Wagner avenue. Friends of the dead man assembled yesterday morning at the Mudd residence to pay their last respects. Funeral services were conducted at St. Rose's Catholic Church. The interment was made in Calvary Cemetery. Gwynn died from the effects of injuries sustained in a street car accident last Thursday morning at Kirkwood. Gwynn and Mudd were boys together in Prince George County, Maryland, twenty-five years ago. The Gwynn family at that time was rich while the Mudd family was only moderately so. Since that time their positions in life have been reversed. One of the Mudd boys went to Virginia and was elected a congressman from that State. Lee Mudd came to Missouri, taught school while studying law, and is now wealthy. The Gwynn family lost their fortune. They belonged to what is known as the landed gentry of Maryland, but their money came upon them. Ignatius Gwynn then started on the lecture platform to recuperate his finances, but the undertaking was disastrous. He came to St. Louis. He was in stringent circumstances and gladly accepted a position as conductor on the Suburban Railroad, running between St. Louis and Kirkwood. MET ON STREET CAR. He and Lee Mudd and his brother, Oscar Mudd, of Kirkwood, while they were riding on his car from DeHolloman to Clayton, last Thursday morning, Gwynn's car jumped the track in Kirkwood and he sustained fatal injuries. While being brought back to St. Louis he constantly kept calling for "the Mudds," but no one understood what he meant. He died shortly after reaching the Baptist Sanitarium. Constipation Makes Bad Blood. MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURES CONSTIPATION. Constipation is the rotting and decaying of undigested food in the alimentary canal. Mull's Grape Tonic is a gentle and mild laxative in addition to being a blood-making and strengthening tonic which immediately builds up the wasted body and makes rich, red blood that carries its health-giving strength to every tissue at every heart beat.
